Robins Back on Top in Race for Pennant

The Robins' Roost.

Percy D. Haughton, president of the Braves, was one of the first spectators to go down on the field after the game. He sought Wilbert Robinson out of the crowd and congratulated him upon the victory of his team. "If the Braves cannot win the pennant," said Haughton, "I hope that Brooklyn will. You have a good team, Mr. Robinson, and you deserve credit for the game fight you have made for the pennant."

Joe Lannin, owner of the Red Sox, was the guest of Mr. Haughton, and he too congratulated Robbie on the victory of the Robins. "I hope my team meets you in October," said Lannin.

A howling wind swept off the Charles River to-day and made the judging of fly balls difficult. At times the wind approached the speed of Jake Daubert as the leader of the Robins dashed around the bases in the first inning. The Braves have lost ten of the last

Robins stormed and captured first place on Braves' Field here this afternoon

It was Jack Kelleher's day in Boston to-day. Before the game the young shortstop of the Robins was called to the plate, and after listening to Tim Murnane expostulate upon the glories of baseball, ancient and modern, some of Jack's Brookline friends presented him with a gold watch suitably engraved. There was much regret that Jack did not start the game, but all Brookline rooted for the Robins just the same.

The assistance of the New York Giants was invaluable to the Robins, for Robbie's allies in the great metropolis checked the Quaker City band in both games on the Polo Grounds in Orew York. Brooklyn holds a lead of one and a half games, and the glory graved. There was much regret that Jack did not start the game, but all Brookline rooted for the Robins just the same.

Larry allowed three hits, just to show that he is a good fellow at heart, but one of them was really a gift of the official scorer, for Olson should have thrown out Gowdy by the proverbial mile in the third inning. Instead, Ivy elected to throw wide and Daubert had to step off the bag to make a catch.

In the eighth inning Snodgrass got the first clean hit of the game—a single to right. In the ninth Gowdy smote a blow to the same field. Only smote a blow to the same field. mote a blow to the same field. Only four men advanced as far as second base and only one man got to third. Surely there was not much raw material furnished for the production of runs.

The attack of the Robins was by far stronger and much more productive. Ed Reulbach held them away from the plate after the first inning, when an error by the obliging Fred Snodgrass converted a single by Jake Davbert into a home run, but in the seventh he weakened, and, while he managed to back away from disaster, he merely delayed the judgment which later was meted out to him.
